BASE BALL.

On Friday last a team came down from Opelika to cross bats with our team. The game was uninteresting from the start, our boys having a complete walk over. They batted as they pleased and piled up scores in abundance. The Opelika boys, on the contrary seemed unable to find our pitcher's curves and managed to make but one run throughout the game. The team that represented us in the beginning and which is generally recognized as having the proper arrangement was as follows:

Catcher	Kyser,
Pitcher	Jones,
First Base	Smith,
Second Base	Williams,
Third Base	Duncan,
Short Stop	Tichenor,
Left Field	McElhaney,
Center Field	Hobdy,
Right Field	Christian,

It is probable that the team will be thus composed on the 4th of May, when we meet Athens in Columbus, though Christain may relieve Jones in the box and Arrington play third base.

Enthusiasm is rising rapidly. Every day a goodly crowd of spectators are out to see the boys practice and to applaud their good work. Let this continue. If you cannot yourself play lend your enthusiasm to help inspire those who can. Thus far we have not seen some of the charming ladies of the town on the campus during practice. We are sure they would be there if they knew how much they were missed. Nothing puts a cadet so much on his mettle as the presence of a pretty girl. Young girls come out and "holler" for the boys. Meanwhile let every one who expects to make the team, and those who hope to see the team win come out and practice regularly. If we beat Athens we must play ball, much better ball than we played to beat Opelika, remember. So then let us play ball!

We don't know whether or not the faculty will permit any of the students other than the team go to Columbus, but we hope they will. But whether you can go to see the game or not, do all you can to make it possible for us to win.

VICTORY FOR FOOTBALL.

Boston, April 10.—The Board of Overseers of Havard College today voted that "in the judgment of the Board of Overseers the decision of the question of the continuance of abolition of intercollegiate football at the University is within the powers of the Athletic Committee."

It is further voted, "That in the opinion of the Board of Overseers intercollegiate football at the University should be abolished when it is shown that the existing serious evils and abuses cannot be corrected."

This is a victory for intercollegiate football. The Athletic Committee will now be given an opportunity to revise the rules and the game will be given another trial.—The American.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY ENROLLMENT.

The following is taken from the Hustler:

"The following comparison of matriculates will be of interest:

Y. M. C. A.

The last two meetings were exceedingly interesting. At that on the seventh, Prof Arbuckle made an earnest and interesting talk, one that seemed to strike home to many of those present and impressed all. On the 14th, Cadet W. J. Beeson led the meeting his subject being "Prayer." His talk was extremely suggestive and called forth several interesting remarks from members of the association. At this meeting the delegates to the Selma convention were instructed, having been chosen by the executive committee during the week.

FOOT BALL.

The outlook is encouraging. Many of last season's team in addition to scrubs and substitutes will be back, affording good material for the team of '95. Besides this, an arrangement has been made to have an excellent coach, one who has not only himself been a proficient player, but has had large experience in coaching, and is strictly up to date in the science of football playing. J. W. Heisman is his name. He was once an end rush on the Pennsylvania team, of which he has been one of the principal coaches. From all that can be learned of him, he is just such a coach as we need.

The Technological school of At-has dropped from the Southern Athletic association consequent to the prohibitory action of their faculty regarding athletic contests.

FIELD DAY.

The Athletic Committee are still working earnestly for the success of Field Day. Apparatus is on the campus for the accomodation of those who desire to practice, and every afternoon a crowd of students may be seen engaged in its various uses. Eleven gold medals have been ordered and no stimulus in the shape of prizes will be lacking to make the day a grand success. But here as everywhere money is an indispensable feature. It is absolutely necessary that the members of the Athletic association pay up their dues without delay. None of course but the members in good standing will be permitted to participate in the Field Day contests. The dummy line will make special provisions for bringing Opelika visitors down on that day, and a large and enthusiastic crowd of spectators may be expected. So much more on this account then does it behoove every one to do his best for the success of the exercises.

On the evening of the first the sophomore declaimers will contest for the faculty, medal. The exercises will commence promptly at the appointed hour, and will no doubt be interesting. We understand that "chestnuts" have been excluded from the selections and that all the de-claimers are making thorough preparations to do their respective parts in the best manner possible. Appropriate music of course will be a part of the exercises.

EXAMINATIONS.

The other night I went to bed,
But not to sleep, for my poor head
Was filled with a most awful dread—
Examinations.

I thought of this, and then of that;
Of set and sit; which goes with sat;
I fear my brain has run to fat
Examinations.

Next came the base, and rate per cent.
Of money to an agent sent,
And with that all of them went
Examinations.

Then my lessons I tried to spell;
Which words have two, and which one L?
O, my poor brain I cannot tell.
Examinations.

Where is Cape Cod, and where Pe-kin?
Where do the rivers all begin?
A high per cent I cannot win.
Examinations!

Who was John Smith? What did he do?
And all the fellows, too?
Examinations!

Oh, welcome sleep! at last it came,
But not to rest me, all the same;
For in my dreams this is my bane—
Examinations!

When flattery soothes and ambition blinds?
Desire of power, on earth a vicious weed,

We have received the first number of Vol. I of The Franklin Advocate, a magazine published monthly by the Franklin Literary society of Howard college. The Advocate seems assured of a successful future, and is welcomed on our table.

The Crimson-White misunderstood the article in our last issue announcing the oratorical contest in Talledega. We did not say that an association of colleges had been formed to hold annual meetings, but that the Alabama Chatauqua Society had arranged for this meeting on the 10th, of July, and everything will be conducted under the auspices of this society. As far as we know, no intercollegiate oratorical society has been formed; but, now that the Crimson-White mentions it we think that such a society should be a part of the college world of Alabama. Annual Athletic contests seem to be a permanent feature of college life; why should not annual oratorical contests? If there is one thing apparent in the college worlds of today it is the decline of interest in Literary societies. Anything tending to bring about a return to this important branch of college training should certainly be hailed with delight. Such an association as referred to with a regular permanent organization would evidently accomplish much in causing a revival of interest in oratorical training. That such an interest should be revived no one possessed of ordinary understanding will deny. Why then should not an intercollegiate oratorical society be organized? There are many advantages but not one disadvantage do we see. In commenting on the contest in Talledega the Crimson-White remarks that other institutions besides the three mentioned might be found who desire a membership in such a society (as was supposed to have been organized.) We were surprised when we found that the University was not going to be represented—Why she is not we cannot tell; but we thought that it was because she would not accept the general proposition submitted by the Chatauqua society.

On Memorial day this year, Col. A. J. Bondurant will preside over the exercises, Dr. Rush act as chaplain, Miss Ella Lubton recite the poem and Cadet Capt. H. H. Smith deliver the oration. These exercises will, of course take place on the 26th, of April at the Cemetery. A salute will be fired over the graves by the cadet corps.

The Commencement Hop Committee are busy making arrangements for the dance. Invitations have been gotten out and all bids fair for the Hop, though we learn that the cadets are paying up slowly. Every thing seems to be "paying up slowly" in these days, however, and that is not unusual.

In the last issue of The Orange and Blue gave notice of disorderly conduct among the Auburn cadets and of the punishments that were inflicted upon them for it by the president. Some of these punishments were suspension for the rest of the session and deprivation of the privilege of receiving honors at commencement and the giving of a goodly sum of demerits. The Orange and Blue says that these punishments showed the wisdom of the president and that all who are unprejudiced, would regard them as right and just. The Crimson-White adds that he has backbone and is president of the A. & M. College in the real sense of the term. This experience will no doubt teach the boys the need and the good of orderly behavior. It is always best in any position and under any circumstances in life.—Crimson-White.

In the annual debate between the University of the south and Vanderbilt to take place shortly, the question submitted is "Resolved, That the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts should be so extended as to include all causes of an international character arising within the limits of the United States. Vanderbilt has chosen the affirmative side. This we learn from the Vanderbilt Hustler.

The lecture by Prof. B. B. Ross last Friday evening was exceedingly interesting and instructive. His subject, being on some industrial applications of Chemistry, was illustrated by numerous experiments. The Professor's delicate appreciation of wit and humor was shown in several instances. This lecture was a continuation of that delivered by Prof. Ross last year.

Easter Sunday opened bright and beautiful, with a morning such as those of which the poets love to sing. All nature seemed to join, with silence more eloquent than any speech, in the rejoicings in the Risen Christ. But later it grew windy and the beauty of the day was lost in the clouds of dust. This, however, did not check the Easter services in any of the churches. Under the delicate and skillful touch of woman's hands, the spring flowers were made to lend the fullness of their fragrance and beauty to the occasion, in the tasteful decoration of the several houses of worship. And all went well with the work of the Lord. In the Presbyterian church the services were especially interesting, being held in commemoration of the late pastor, Rev. Dr. Baker. Mr. R. W. Burton in fitting words presented the marble tablet erected in his memory by the Ladies' Aid Society, to the church in behalf of the Ladies. Miss Lucile Burton, his daughter, unveiled the tablet in a most graceful manner, after which the Rev. Dr. Bull accepted it in behalf of the church, and preached an eloquent sermon on the life of the beloved dead, showing the strength and beauty of his character. His words found an answering echo in the heart of every one who knew Mr. Baker, or came in contact with his Christ-like disposition. Truly "his works do follow him."

The silence of a wise man is more wrong to mankind than a slanderer's speech.—Wycherley.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL

Miss Allie Glenn returned last week from a several weeks visit to Birmingham.

Miss Alice Daly, a most winning young lady of Birmingham, who has for several weeks been the guest of Miss Tallulah Gachet, returned home last week. To be Frank, every one who met Miss Daly found a strong attachment for her and it is with regret that we can see her no longer.

Miss Margaret Kinnier, that beautiful and accomplished Virginia girl, who has for some time been visiting Miss Fannie Toomer, and been the center of attraction in Auburn society, much to the sorrow of her many admirers left last week for her home in Lynchburg.

Mr. W. T. Adams of Troy, brother of Cadet Adams stopped over on a short business trip week before last.

Mrs. Kline and daughter Miss Emily made a visit to Atlanta last week.

Judge Gullatte says business in Auburn is better than it has been for several months. All the merchants are in good spirits over the brisk trade and the low freight rates. It was feared at first that the dummy would carry all the city trade to Opelika, but the people have compared the Auburn and Opelika prices and found the home market the best. Now that the merchants have the low freight rates of the dummy and have entertained the home trade, business is in a hopeful condition. These are the Judge's ideas and seem to be correct.

Mr. George Doan Borup left last Monday for West Point where he goes to prepare himself for the West Point examinations. We regret that Doan can no longer be with us, but we congratulate him on his appointment and wish him much success.

Miss Pauline Carter of Dalton, Ga. who has been visiting Miss Emily Kline left last Monday week for Atlanta. Miss Carter has a charming manner and entrancing beauty and many are her admirers in Auburn.

Miss Kate McElhaney has returned from her visit to Mobile.

Mr. John Rush of Montgomery was up on a visit to his parents on last Sunday.

Mr. J. S. Hair is building a new house on the same lot with his own residence.

Mr. James Meade of Birmingham stopped over one day with Gen. Lane this week.

The sixth Greek letter fraternity was organized here last week by Prof. H. B. Arbuckle of the Florida State Seminary. The name of the new fraternity is Pi Kappa Alpha and starts out with a membership of six.

The latest musicians in town are Profs. McKissick and Stedman. It has been rumored that the former was inquiring about the "banjo-mrango."

Mayor T. P. Wimberly and his son Felton Wimberly went to Birmingham on business last week.

Mr. R. W. Burton went to Montgomery to attend Knights of Honor convention.

Cold refreshments of all kinds can now be had at the Kandy Kitchen. The boys seem to be "blowing" themselves these hot days.

On Thursday night a week ago Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Anderson entertained a number of their friends at a delightful lotto party in honor of the visiting young ladies of the town. The ladies' first prize was won by Miss Pauline Carter and the ladies "booby" by Miss Marguerite Kinnier. The gentlemen's first prize was taken by Mr. R. C. Conner and the "booby" by Mr. L. W. Payne. The following couples were present: Dr. C. H. Ross and Miss Lula Moore; Prof. B. B. Ross and Miss Hattie Whitaker; Capt. H. H. Smith and Miss Kinnier; L. W. Payne Jr., and Miss Carter; Prof. J. V. Brown and Miss Toomer; Lieut. J. A. Wills and Miss Branch; Prof. R. E. Noble and Miss Wise Daly; Prof. C. L. Hare and Miss Bessie Broun; Prof. J. A. Duncan and Miss Lula Persons; Cadet R. H. Adams and Miss Emily Kline; Prof. R. C. Conner and Miss Kate Broun; Cadet Drew Milstead and Miss Gachet.

The last meeting of the Conversational club was held at Dr. Mell's. The introductory program consisted of a song by Mrs. Mell with flute obligato by L. W. Payne; a humorous reading by Mrs. B. A. Wills; a piano duet by Mrs. Cary and Miss Heck. The paper read by Mr. Riggs on Hardy was excellent and the after discussion interesting.

Last week the civil engineering course surveyed a dummy line from Auburn to Loachapoka, under the leadership of Tutors, Slayton and Duncan. It is needless to say that the trip was a source of much pleasure despite the hard work and scorching sun.

Why did Prof. Slayton get sunburnt while on the engineering trip? Because he had shaved off his side whiskers. But some one remarks that they would have been no protection had he let them grow.

How much have you subscribed to the baseball fund?

When will we have a Y. M. C. A. building? A well equipped gymnasium? And a swinging post for the cadets?

Above the roar of thunder and the noise of our rustling city is now heard the voice of the sophomore declaimer making the walls of the college ring with his eloquence.

Polk Miller, the celebrated dialect lecturer, will give one of his delightful recitals, under the auspices of the Epworth League, at Thomas Hall, Saturday night, April 20th. Mr. Miller comes with the highest recommendations from those who have heard him in the principle cities of the country, and those who attend will not fail to enjoy his "Evening of Story and Song on the old times down South." Every one should attend. General admission 25 cents. Reserved seats, 35 cents.

Mayor Bryon is visiting his sister Mrs. Averett.

Georgetown seems to be taking a big lead in baseball, having beaten Yale badly.

If Harvard is not as successful as other institutions in athletics, she holds her own in literary contests.

Manager Riggs went to Columbus yesterday to complete arrangements respecting the Auburn-Athens game there on the fourth of May. Columbus is a good amateur base ball town and will no doubt give a good crowd.

The Methodist Sunday school will soon give a picnic at the "park."

Mr. J. F. Adams says that he is glad to see that his advertisement in the Orange and Blue is paying him.

FOUND.

The following beautiful sentiments dedicated to Miss ——— by Cadet W. C. Nedap—The author can secure the same by paying a subscription to Orange and Blue.

Dear Billie:

When I behold the roses sprouting
Which clad in damask matters love
sweet arbours,

And behold your lips where sweet love harbours

My mind presents me with double doubting,

For viewing both alike, my mind
hardly supposes

Whether the roses be your lips, or your lips the roses.

We are glad to see Col. Wills up and out again after his brief spell of sickness.

It is said that Adams now prefers the seclusion of his room to the publicity of other places especially on Friday nights. Necessity may be called the sister of satisfaction.

The new catalogue will be out on the 26th.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL

Miss Allie Glenn returned last week from a several weeks visit to Birmingham.

Miss Alice Daly, a most winning young lady of Birmingham, who has for several weeks been the guest of Miss Tallulah Gachet, returned home last week. To be Frank, every one who met Miss Daly found a strong attachment for her and it is with regret that we can see her no longer.

Miss Margaret Kinnier, that beautiful and accomplished Virginia girl, who has for some time been visiting Miss Fannie Toomer, and been the center of attraction in Auburn society, much to the sorrow of her many admirers left last week for her home in Lynchburg.

Mr. W. T. Adams of Troy, brother of Cadet Adams stopped over on a short business trip week before last.

Mrs. Kline and daughter Miss Emily made a visit to Atlanta last week.

Judge Gullatte says business in Auburn is better than it has been for several months. All the merchants are in good spirits over the brisk trade and the low freight rates. It was feared at first that the dummy would carry all the city trade to Opelika, but the people have compared the Auburn and Opelika prices and found the home market the best. Now that the merchants have the low freight rates of the dummy and have entertained the home trade, business is in a hopeful condition. These are the Judge's ideas and seem to be correct.

HAPPENINGS IN THE WEBSTERIAN SOCIETY.

March 30.—Quite a number were present and the following subject was discussed: "Resolved That capital punishment should be abolished." Alford opened the debate, followed by King, G. D. with an interesting talk. The subject was strongly contested and was decided in favor of the negative.

As previously stated this was the night selected for the election of speakers to represent us commencement. Moulder and King, C. L. were elected. It was with much pleasure that the society elected Mr. Casey, R. a member. Rozier is a smart fellow and we expect him to be a bright and shining star in our society.

April 6.—For various reasons the society was not very well attended. The subject to be discussed was: Resolved, That Mexico will ultimately be annexed to the U. S." This subject being rather difficult no one seemed to be prepared and no debate was held. Much general business was attended to at this meeting among which was the election of officers; the result being as follows: Alford, President; Casey, Vice-President; Mangum, Secretary; Hertzfield H., Monitor.

April 13.—Alford presided over the meeting in an able and dignified manner. Our Society has been steadily growing in members and interest for the past two months, reaching the climax at this meeting. Besides the good attendance of our own members, several Wirts were present together with other visitors. We would be glad to have such visitors at any time. The society was pleased to elect Mr. Covin as one of its members.

The following subject was thoroughly and ably discussed: "Resolved, That the old South was grander than is the New." Mangum opened the debate with a few well pointed remarks, followed by Anderson who made the best speech that he was ever known to make in the society. In fact he did so well that he deceived himself. The following men championed the affirmative: Casey, Hare, Hertzfield H., Kline and Vines. The negative was defended by Beeson, W. J., Hertzfield, J., Moulder and Pollard.

The following men were elected officers for commencement: Alford President, Casey, Secretary. Boland, Pollard, Webb and Merrick were appointed on a committee on invitations and arrangements.

There being no other business the society adjourned.

There is nothing in the universe that I fear, except that I may not know all my duty or may fail to do it.—Mary Lyon.

Engrave upon your hearts, "Whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as unto the Lord," and then take up, piece by piece, the work he lays before you and do it thoroughly. It may look little and insignificant all the way, but at the end the golden grains shall have made a shining mountain.—Anon.

Topic of conversation among Post Graduates and Seniors—Theses.

Duty is a power which rises with us in the morning and goes to rest with us at night. It is the shadow which cleaves to us where we will, and which only leaves us when we leave the light of life.—W. E. Gladstone.

It is possible to spend your whole life in laboriously doing nothing.—Anon.

System is a good thing but do not be a slave to it. If you do, in addition to spending your life laboriously doing nothing you will spend it "in shallows and in miseries."

The musical entertainment of Miss Lelia L. Wheeler, Miss Eva M. Slaton and Mr. Edwin L. Gardiner was enjoyed by as large an audience as we have ever known Auburn to give, Opelika being represented by much of its beauty and manliness. All pronounced the concert to be the most brilliant occasion of the year and professed themselves charmed by the splendid music they heard. We are all extremely grateful to these three musicians for this most enjoyable evening and will long remember it with feelings of pleasure.

Sprained ankles seem to be in order. Tichenor and McElhaney are both laid up.

Have you noticed the resigned look of certain whilom cadets?

On the 4th, Mr. F. L. Willis, the State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was in town talking up the state convention to convene in Selma this week. Mr. Willis has many friends here who are always glad to see him. As a result of his efforts the following Cadets will represent our association at the convention: H. H. Smith, McBryde, Groves, B. A. Taylor, Purifoy, Beeson, Nelson, McGehee, Pollard, S. T. Slayton, Fenton and Alford. They leave today to return on Monday.

Cadet John Arrington returned to college on Monday to the great delight of the base ballists.

The two following quotations are taken from two English examination papers, the latter being intended for a quotation from Grey's Elegy:

"Dryad—a wooden instrument."

"Can storied urn or oriental bust Cool the cold, dull ear of dust?"
